

Laboratory of virtual design of production systems

The technology is used to develop applications for intelligent assembly systems (virtual commissioning), virtual testing of automated workplaces and a prototype of the development environment. The system allows the development of intelligent production systems with a focus on robot programming, human simulation in production - ergonomics, programming PLC, simulation and optimization of a complex virtual production system.

---

Technologies for application development for intelligent assembly systems (virtual commissioning)